Beautiful Utility Boxes in Northern Hills

By Moraig McCabe

Have you noticed that there is an outdoor art gallery in your community? No, I am not talking about that big, blue ring on 96th Ave which many Calgarians love to hate. Thanks to the City of Calgary's Utility Box Public Art Program, eight Enmax utility boxes along Country Hills Boulevard from the intersection at 14th St. NE through the heart of our communities to the intersection of Panorama Hills Way, have had a makeover and been transformed from an ugly, tagged grey boxes into outdoor works of art! Thank you to all the residents who took part in the engagement, be it via social media or coming to Tiina's open house at Vivo in August.

Take a long walk or cycle along Country Hills Boulevard and take a good look at the utility boxes which have doubled as canvases for a group of artists. There are Raghu's three active designs starting up at the District (pictured) through to the intersection at Harvest Hills Gate, Tiina's three warped fractal designs opposite the shopping area at Country Hills Village (2 pictured), and Nicola & Jason's altered images of Calgary are due to be installed at the time of writing, further west by Country Hills Square/opposite Panorama Hills Way. If you are traveling by bus or car further west, check out even more new, beautified utility boxes on Country Hills Boulevard in Hidden Valley Mac-Sand, or Hamptons/Edgemont.

Like them? Hate them? If you have a comment, let us know by emailing our Editor, Luz Bolo, at editor@northernhills.ab.ca

Northern Hills Yard Contest Winners Announced

by Brice Bouwa

The NHCA Yard Contest is a program that celebrates the efforts of Northern Hills Community residents in growing and transforming their yards as well as keeping our community beautiful.

We were excited to see what you've done with your yards this year. Yards were nominated in the contest in one of three categories:

- Overall beauty
- Use of plants and flowers
- Use of hardscape: rocks, pavers, artificial turf

After reviewing the entries, we are proud to announce the following winners:

Now that the federal election is behind us, we must not forget the promises made to our community by all of our elected officials. In politics, we hear promises made and once elected those promises sometimes become easily forgotten. Your community association is taking a stance that we must work more closely with our elected officials municipally, provincially, federally, and with the Calgary Board of Education, Calgary Catholic School District and separate school districts. We must also keep our elected officials accountable to their promises and ensure that they properly represent the residents of Northern Hills. We will be looking at putting together a report card type of system that will evaluate our politicians on a measurable scale. We will then be able to show the results in the Northern Hills newsletter.

Your Board has been working hard developing a strategic planning program for the next year. The plan thus far is as follows:

- Define roles of the Board and Executive Director in a governance model
- Review new Board structure/organizational chart
- Develop Board portfolio roles
- Review job descriptions of Board members
- Create Board Policies
- Review Bylaws
- Create Board orientation
- Create a decision-making framework
- Develop a business plan
- Create Committee terms of reference

The Board is very excited in the direction that we are going, and we are looking forward to any community input given to us to help us achieve our goals. We encourage any resident to attend our Board meetings as they are all open to the public. The next one is October 28th at 7pm at Vivo. For more information you can contact the office.

At our last Board meeting, the Board has amended its position on the Harvest Hills Golf Course closure. We originally approved a motion that we do not support the Harvest Hills Golf Course rezoning for residential development, with changes to the area structure plan. The new approved motion was approved by the Board to strongly oppose the Harvest Hills Golf Course rezoning for residential development, with changes to the area structure plan. We have submitted our official response to the City, and we will continue to lobby and give the residents the confidence that we represent their voice.

NHCA VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

All of our event volunteer opportunities will now be posted on the NHCA Eventbrite page, to make it easier for volunteers to see what is available and link these opportunities to their electronic calendars. Eventbrite has a fantastic app that can be downloaded to android smartphones and iPhones, and has the option to add these chosen volunteering "registrations" easily to your phone's calendar, meaning you can set up automatic reminders for yourself. We hope this makes it easier for community members and welcome your feedback at: info@northernhills.ab.ca

The NHCA volunteer page is at: <http://www.eventbrite.ca/o/northern-hills-community-association-7498163287> (or easier still, just enter "NHCA" in the search bar!). You can find a link to the NHCA Eventbrite page on our website too, at: www.northernhills.ab.ca/nhca-volunteer-opportunities/

We are looking for volunteers to help with:

Events: NHCA Business Fair on Saturday, November 14th

Programs: We really need:

- YOUTH VOLUNTEERS (age 16-18) for GoGirl on Saturday, November 7th (go to the Eventbrite page to sign up or email moraig.mccabe@northernhills.ab.ca)
- Volunteers to help flood and maintain the community ice rinks (in Harvest Hills and Panorama Hills) this winter. Without this team of wonderful rinks volunteers, we can't provide the free community rinks that provide so much pleasure to skaters and shinny players alike. If you can help, please contact Brice at community@northernhills.ab.ca or call the NHCA office on 403-226-6422 and they can pass your contact details on to Brice.

We are also looking to fill some committee chair positions, and some seats on our Board. If you would be interested in becoming the next Community Gardens Chair, Secretary on the Board, or are interested in any other position, please contact our President at: president@northernhills.ab.ca or Executive Director at: moraig.mccabe@northernhills.ab.ca

Little Free Libraries in the Northern Hills

Over this spring and summer, little sidewalk (take a book, leave a book) libraries have been popping up like flowers all over the Northern Hills! We would love to be able to take the credit, but it has been due to the fantastic combined efforts of many residents in our communities, and some Grade 9 students from Nose Creek School.

Cardel Homes and Calgary Reads helped Nose Creek school to build four unique little libraries: two in the shape of British telephone boxes, one a garage and one a theatre. They were all designed and built by Grade 9 students at the school and installed over the summer in Evanston, Coventry Hills and right outside the school, for everyone to enjoy (see picture, right).

The rest of the libraries have been installed by your neighbours – people with a passion for these little free libraries that promote reading, fun and community building. And they are all different! Some are small, others have more than one shelf; some are very artistic, others are unique in both design and decoration. We've created a map of the ones we know about and encourage you to go and visit your local little libraries. If you know of any others, do let us know by emailing the address to Moraig at: creatingspace@northernhills.ab.ca and we'll add them to our community map which can be accessed at: <https://goo.gl/maps/GjTVAGnFjd72>. It can also be accessed via the NHCA's website Little Free Libraries page at www.northernhills.ab.ca/little-libraries

Be Assured – CPS is Tackling Crime In Your Neighbourhood

Over the past few months there have been a lot of posts on social media about crime in Coventry Hills. Is it getting worse? Are CPS doing anything about it? Do I need to be worried?

The short answers are: not really, yes, and no.

The NHCA have been in communication with our new Community Resource Officer, Cst. Steve Kelly, about the community residents' concerns and here's what he has to say:

"The matrices of our Residential Break and Enters and Theft of Vehicles as of September 29, show a historic trend for Coventry and also other communities in the District [CPS District 7]. The purpose of these is to show that your area has not been specifically targeted. Break and enters happen in all communities."

"Coventry suffered from a targeted Break and Enter group/individual who operated May – August. In September the numbers dropped district wide. Good News: our Break and Enter detectives have been working overtime all summer trying to catch a couple of groups working our area and multiple arrests have taken place over the last couple of weeks, which is reflected in the drop in Break and Enter numbers for September. So far, the arrests made have not been linked directly to Coventry, but CPS is still linking offenders with offences."

"The reason for increased Police presence [in Coventry] over the summer was to flood the area with marked police cars as a deterrent for criminals in the area and to check suspicious persons. Our Crime Analyst was advising on the crime trends all summer and Coventry was made the priority for officers to target."

"Generally, Residential Break and Enters are through unlocked doors and open overhead garage doors. Criminals are also targeting unlocked vehicles on the driveway in hopes to find the overhead garage door opener. The types of people recently arrested [in neighbouring communities] could easily be the culprits responsible for crime in your community as they move from one area to another very easily."

Please assist the Calgary Police Service in deterring crime in your community by taking away opportunities for thieves to exploit. Everyone needs to practice some basic crime prevention, and just as important: get to know your neighbours! If everyone knows everyone in your street or cul-de-sac, then anyone who shouldn't be there will be obvious and stand out as suspicious.

Here are some valuable crime prevention strategies from Calgary Police Service:

DO NOT LEAVE YOUR GARAGE DOORS OPEN. Thieves need only seconds to enter your garage and remove valuable items. Close and secure your overhead garage door when you are in your home, in the back yard or at a neighbour's.

KEEP THE ATTACHED RESIDENTIAL DOOR LOCKED. If your home has an attached garage, ensure that you keep the door into your home locked at all times, even when you are home.

KEEP YOUR FRONT, REAR AND PATIO DOORS LOCKED, EVEN WHEN HOME OR IN THE YARD. Thieves sometimes take advantage of opportunities we create. If you are in the back yard working, thieves will sometimes enter through an unlocked front door or attached garage door while you are home in the yard.

DO NOT LEAVE YOUR VEHICLE KEYS, WALLET, PURSE OR OTHER VALUABLES NEAR THE FRONT DOOR, BACK DOOR OR OTHER ENTRANCE. Leaving your purse, wallet or keys on a hook or table near your unlocked front door creates an opportunity for thieves to simply reach in and take your valuables in mere seconds.

DO NOT LEAVE YOUR VEHICLE(S) UNLOCKED WHEN PARKED OUTSIDE. A common trend for thieves is to walk or ride through a neighbourhood or parking lot, checking door handles. An unlocked door is an invitation for thieves to rummage through your vehicle and take whatever they like.

DO NOT LEAVE YOUR GARAGE DOOR OPENER IN YOUR VEHICLE. If parking outside, remove your garage door opener when you go into your home, or if unable to do so, place it somewhere out of site in your trunk or some other place.

CLOSE ALL WINDOWS AND DOORS AT NIGHT. Leaving a window open, even at night when you are asleep, can signal an opportunity to thieves.

REPORT ANY SUSPICIOUS ACTIVITY. If a vehicle or person appears out of place, please go with your instincts and call the police. Non-emergency (403)266-1234. Emergency 911.

DEVELOP AND STICK TO A ROUTINE OF CHECKING YOUR VEHICLE(S), DOORS AND WINDOWS BEFORE YOU LEAVE FOR THE DAY, OR WHEN YOU GO TO BED AT NIGHT.

Cst Kelly's advice: "Coventry residents are reminded to call the non-emergency Calgary Police Service number 403-266-1234 to report any suspicious behavior. The police are paid to be bothered with your call, and do not underestimate the importance of at least calling our dispatcher to advise... you never know what could have just happened a block away from where you live. We are working very hard in your community and neighboring communities to make our city a safe place to live. We must work together and not fuel negative comments on social media sites. Some information is true and valid, but the majority of the information is not accurate and causes people concern."

So, if you ever have any concerns about what is happening in your neighbourhood, please register with The Hub (you can do this online at <http://www.calgary.ca/cps/Pages/The-Hub.aspx> or at our local police station in the multi-services building opposite Vivo), or call the non-emergency CPS line on 403-266-1234.

Green Team Harvests 210 lbs of Veggies for the Food Bank

by Annette Bennett

Wednesday, September 30th was a perfect day for the Nose Creek School Green Team to harvest 210 pounds of vegetables for the Calgary Food Bank.

For three years now the students of the Nose Creek School Green Team have been planting beets, potatoes, carrots and onions at the Coventry Community Gardens across the street from Nose Creek School.

The team consists of members from Grades 4 to 7 along with two teachers from the school, Ms. Cross and Ms. Stafford, and two volunteers from the community, Lisa Baerg and Annette Bennett.

Each fall the gardens are harvested by the students, and Mrs. Baerg takes the veggies to the Calgary Food Bank. Each year the amount of vegetables grows.

The Green Team would like to thank the members of the Community Gardens for watering the veggies all summer long!

These students guardians have signed public waiver forms.

Christmas Hampers for Low Income Families

Preparing for Christmas is almost always associated with giving festive hampers, a deep-rooted tradition of the holidays for many families. It becomes more meaningful if we can give them to those who do not have much or may not even be able to afford anything for Christmas.

There are many choices for giving seasonal treats and delicacies, toys, and other Christmas oddities to those who are less fortunate. Locally, there are a few programs that offer a variety of food, Christmas, and toy hampers that we can support. Below are five noteworthy programs.

Time to focus on the strengths of children with ADHD

A new literature review published in Canadian Psychology suggests that current strategies that are commonly used to support children with Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) in the classroom are missing half of the equation – capitalization of the child's strengths and abilities. Children with ADHD are typically portrayed in a negative light. Focusing on a child's strengths, while acknowledging their weaknesses, can nurture positive behaviour and foster resilience.

The start of a new school year can be exciting as students are reunited with friends, meet their teachers, and prepare for new challenges. But for children with ADHD, their parents, and their teachers, this excitement can be overshadowed by the stress of coping with academic and social challenges.

An estimated 5-10% of school-age children in Canada have a diagnosis of ADHD; a disorder characterized by problems of inattention, impulsivity, and hyperactivity. Because of these challenges, children with ADHD often struggle in the classroom and may experience negative interactions with teachers and peers.

Current assessments of children with ADHD often look at their core deficits to help identify solutions to their social and behavioural problems. Though pharmacological treatments and behaviour management have been shown to help reduce core symptoms, attempting to "fix" deficits tends to create a negative bias, leading parents, teachers, and the children themselves to focus only on what is going wrong.

Authors Dr. Emma Climie, Werklund

School of Education, University of Calgary, and Dr. Sarah Mastoras, Ottawa-Carleton District School Board, argue that identifying and building on the strengths, resources, and abilities of children with ADHD may help parents and teachers see beyond frustrating behaviours to better help these children develop positive strategies and coping mechanisms. These strategies can then help children to compensate for areas of deficit, leading to more positive classroom experiences that may in turn protect them from developing depression and/or anxiety.

Though more research is required to determine best practices for using strengths-based interventions in the classroom, the research review highlights the following promising interventions:

- fostering positive relationships with school staff and using goal directed solitary play to buffer a child from the impact of peer rejection;
- incorporating a child's interests into classroom activities to encourage focus, motivation, and perseverance;
- using group activities with a variety of roles that play on each child's strengths to foster inclusivity;
- using enthusiastic teaching with active participation and novelty to maintain interest and focus;
- identifying and promoting promising friendships; and
- creating helper roles in the school setting to promote self-worth and a sense of responsibility.

City Update: Harvest Hills Golf Course Redevelopment

City issues report to applicant

City staff have finished the first phase of their technical review of the application to redevelop the Harvest Hills Golf Course. The application has been reviewed for its urban planning merits, the technical aspects of the application and compliance with City policies, such as the Municipal Development Plan. Comments and feedback received from the public have also been considered during this review. On October 22, City staff issued a detailed team review (DTR) of the application to the applicant. This document summarizes concerns and requests revisions. We anticipate a period of review and negotiation with the applicant. This process is iterative, and we expect it will take a number of months. Following this, we will report back to the community and provide further opportunities for feedback.

Public feedback

Feedback received from the public has been reviewed, summarized and posted to our project webpage. This feedback helped to inform our review of the application, and helped shape the requests we've sent to the applicant for consideration.

An initial survey was conducted from July 18 to August 16, and more than 500 responses were received, reviewed and summarized. Public open houses were held on September 10, 11 and 14, at which time a second survey was issued to capture more detailed feedback. Approximately 500 responses were received from this survey as well, reviewed and summarized. City staff also received more than 4,000 signatures, more than 1,000 individual letters and emails in response to the circulation of the application. Those written comments have also been reviewed and summarized. We thank community members for their input.

Next steps

We will continue to send monthly updates of our progress via email.

Stay tuned to our project webpage for updates about this application and for further opportunities to provide your input and thoughts. We will also send updates to our email subscribers directly. If you know someone who would be interested to receive email updates about this project, please ask them to sign up.

For more details on reports, feedback, and other information mentioned in this article, you may visit the City's project website at: <http://www.calgary.ca/PDA/pd/Pages/Current-studies-and-ongoing-activities/Harvest-Hills-Golf-Course-Lands.aspx>

Keystone Hills

You may have noticed some activity north of Stoney Trail along Centre Street. The stripping and grading currently taking place is for Stage 1 of the Brookfield development, Livingston. The community of Livingston is part of the Keystone Hills Area Structure Plan (ASP) which was approved by Council in 2012.

Keystone Hills will eventually be home to 60,000 people living in three distinct communities and employ as many as 18,000. The area will also have a major activity centre (MAC) based around the future Green Line LRT station. Included in the MAC is land for a future North Campus Hospital.

If you're thinking about renting a secondary suite, you should verify the home's address and/or registry number on calgary.ca/suites. Listed secondary suites have been inspected to meet Alberta's Safety Code requirements for your protection.

Approved secondary suites may also have a registered secondary suite sticker on their unit.

The City is also making it faster and easier for Calgarians to apply for a basement suite by waiving the Development Permit requirements where suites are a permitted use.

Greetings from Councillor Chu

Join The Movement

The City of Calgary and community partners are joining forces to start a movement to get more Calgarians, more active, more often. It's a simple idea with big outcomes for Calgary.

Recent studies show the majority of Canadians are not getting enough physical activity. This has serious implications for individual and community health and well-being. Despite knowing the benefits of physical activity, many may not realize that making small, simple changes can significantly improve overall health.

A healthier, happier you can be as simple as taking the stairs instead of the elevator; walking or cycling instead of driving; standing instead of sitting; stretching instead of waiting. Wherever you are, whatever you're doing, there are so many ways to move in Calgary.

From November 16 to 22, 2015, free activities are being offered throughout Calgary as part of the first ever #getmovingyc week. Jump in on adult recesses along Stephen Avenue downtown or register for a free guided winter walk at various locations. Adults can try something new as part of the first All Sport One City event, a free 'try-it' week organized by Sport Calgary.

On November 22, children and youth can enjoy a free public skate or swim at participating City of Calgary facilities in support of National Child Day, or head out to Ralph Klein Park for the Winter Movement Festival, a free public festival to encourage physical and ecological literacy.

It's all part of a plan to get Calgarians of all ages and abilities to move more.

For a complete event listing, please visit calgary.ca/getmoving.

Join the movement and the conversation. Use #getmovingyc to show us how you move and find out about how you and your family can get moving.

Calgary AfterSchool

Calgary AfterSchool offers fun, safe, supervised, and quality after school programs for Calgary kids aged 6 to 16. A collaborative effort between The City of Calgary and community partners, Calgary AfterSchool programming takes place during the critical hours of 3:00 p.m. – 6:00 p.m., when kids are out of school, but parents may not yet be home. Calgary AfterSchool participants gain physical, social, leadership and creative skills.

For more information, including a listing of all programs, visit calgary.ca/afterschool.

Friday, November 20th is National Child Day! This year's theme is My Right to Learn. Many free activities will be offered through City of Calgary Parks and Recreation, YMCA, Boys and Girls Club. Also check out Vivo and Calgary Public Library here in the Northern Hills for fun close to home. For more information go to www.nationalchildday.ca

Nominations are OPEN across Alberta for the 16th Annual Great Kids Award.

Sixteen Great Kids Awards will be given to young Albertans between the ages of five to eighteen, in recognition for helping to inspire and change lives of others. Young leaders accomplish this in various ways, from volunteering for organizations to fundraising for charity.

"Great kids capture the vitality of Alberta and deserve our recognition. The recipients are exceptional role models, and will help make our future brighter." - Irfan Sabir, Minister of Human Services Award recipients will be celebrated at an award ceremony in Edmonton sponsored by Fantasyland Hotel. Recipients, along with their families, will enjoy a night's stay at the Fantasyland Hotel and West Edmonton Mall attractions passes.

Nominate an outstanding child or youth in your ing 780-415-8150 (toll-free by first dialing 310-0000). Nomination deadline is Friday, November 27 at 4 p.m. Recipients will be announced in May 2016.

On another note:

Green Line 101 had an information session on October 09, 2015 hosted by Shane Keating (Councillor Ward 12) and several other city councillors. There is a lot of interest and enthusiasm for this proposal! I will keep readers up-to-date as this infrastructure project application process continues to unfold.

Protection for Payday Loan Customers are asking Albertans to share their opinions and experiences with payday loans through an online survey. This survey is part of the government's comprehensive review of the Payday Loans Regulation. All payday lenders operating in Alberta are licensed under the regulation, which expires on June 30, 2016.

"Protecting consumers is a priority of our government. In tough economic times we know some Alberta families turn to payday loan services to help them deal with financial challenges. This review will help ensure vulnerable families aren't being taken advantage of" - Deron Bilous, Minister of Service Alberta

Their survey can be accessed on Service Alberta website www.servicealberta.gov.ab.ca

Coyotes in our Communities

Some residents have encountered coyotes in the area of the Panorama Hills ravine early in September, and these urban coyotes are often seen in the vicinity. Concerns were voiced out by a resident in her letter to the newsletter and the association, to wit:

Hello,

Myself and a few other residents have been encountering two coyotes in the morning every day this week. I reside on the ravine and have seen the coyotes on many occasions over the years and they always run off when they see people so it was never a concern.

Now, these two coyotes (they don't travel together), sit and watch you for a good few minutes, and one resident said it ran towards her.

I'm walking on the ravine every day with three young children and I know many families with young children and pets do, too.

I'm just wondering if you've had concerns from any other residents? Perhaps the next newsletter have some information for residents on what to do and educate residents on coyotes?

*Thank you,
Romania*

While concerns have not been brought up by other residents, it is important to know that coyotes were here years before us. Our suburb was previously an undeveloped wildlife habitat, and it is thus not surprising that coyotes are part of our locality.

To give us a better understanding of our coexistence with coyotes researches have been continuously conducted, and at the forefront here at home is the U of C from which much of the information here is culled from their website in addition to those data from the City's website.

Some relevant facts

Coyote families travel together in summer and fall in search of food. As people frequent urban parks and green belt areas in summer, the possibility of encounters increases. Coyotes are also highly visible during mating season, January and February, when they gather in groups, looking for mates. They tend to be more territorial and aggressive toward dogs at this time of year.

Coyotes tend to be most active between dusk and dawn. They usually resting in their dens during the day, under low branches of trees or any other sheltered area. Those seen any time of the day have adapted their routine to reliable sources of food at a particular time.

It is rare for coyotes to attack humans or pets but their growing presence in cities across Canada makes many ill-at-ease, mainly with the anxiety that coyotes are carnivores and predators and around their backyards, kids and pets. Based on the 2011 study of Lukasik and Alexander, conflict represents a very small portion of coyote encounters in Calgary, i.e. fewer than 5% of reported incidents are "conflicts," where a person or pet has been followed or bitten. What has been learned so far regarding coyote conflict is that they are significantly higher during two periods of the year:

- April to June, which is the the pup rearing season or the denning season when coyotes may be in the den or have pups to protect.
- September to November, known as the dispersal period when young relatively uneducated animals are leaving their pack for the first time.

Neighbourhoods with high rates of conflict show evidence that houses or apartments tend to back onto a greenspace or ravine that provides very good coyote habitat, coyotes eat more garbage, and that people have been allowing coyotes to lounge or rest in close proximity to them.

Take note that coyotes return to neighbourhoods because shelter or easy meals are available there. When coyotes regularly visit backyards it is likely a result of a nearby food source.

A standing advice from the City is for people to watch their pets or small children in areas where coyotes have been spotted.

What to do if a coyote approaches

- Do not run or turn away, keep an eye contact, and slowly back away towards a building.
- Make yourself appear larger. Wave your arms overhead, or thrust long objects like a walking stick toward the coyote. Throw rocks, sticks or other objects toward them. Make loud noises by banging sticks, clanging pots together or shouting to keep them from getting accustomed to people.

What can I do to coexist with coyotes? Tips from the Fish Creek Provincial Park Safety Publications

- Keep pets under control and on a leash when outside.
- If you must leave your pet unattended provide a secure place such as an enclosed yard.
- Never feed coyotes. The best strategy is to not habituate or cause coyotes to lose their fear of people in the first place. Keep them wild. Under Section 11(3) of the Provincial Parks Act it states: "No person shall feed wildlife in a Provincial Park or Recreation Area". This serves two purposes:
 - People should not feed coyotes, and
 - People should not feed other animals or birds which might attract coyotes.
- Coyotes are attracted to:
 - Improperly contained garbage - place garbage in hard containers such as solid metal or plastic cans.
 - Open composters containing vegetables or fruits which have fallen from trees.
 - Overflowing bird feeders (coyotes will eat the grain as well as the mice and other small mammals attracted by the bird feed).
 - Pet food avoid feeding pets outdoors.
 - Barbeques that have not been cleaned of food odours.
- Fencing will help discourage coyotes from entering your yard. Make sure fences are to the ground and in good repair.

Your Rights & Responsibilities (aka How to be a Good Neighbour)

Whether you are new to the city or a long-term Calgarian, a homeowner or tenant, City bylaws apply to everyone. Bylaws are written to protect the environment, ensure high standards of public health and safety, and to help maintain an orderly appearance in our communities. Animal & Bylaw Services works with Calgarians to promote bylaw compliance through public education and enforcement. The City of Calgary's bylaws set a minimum standard for neighbourhoods, helping to ensure all Calgarians live in safe, clean and healthy communities.

Below is an extract from the Good Neighbour Practices Reference Guide of frequently referenced municipal bylaws, which advise residents, business owners and service providers of their rights and responsibilities as members of their community.

Did you know that the City's Community Standards Bylaw (5M2004) states:

- All property addresses must be clearly visible from the roadway and it is also required that your address be clearly displayed at the back of your property, if adjacent to an alley or public walkway, to assist emergency services and other City operations.

- Grass and weeds on your property must be less than 15 centimetres (6 inches) in height. This also applies to vacant lots within residential areas. Weeds must be kept under control so that they don't spread from your property.
- Accumulation of offensive material on private property is prohibited. This includes animal remains, animal feces and materials that create unpleasant odours or are likely to attract pests. Loose garbage, yard clude foundation, foundation walls, exterior walls, roofs, windows and doors; protective or decorative finishes of exterior structures; exterior stairs, landings, porches, balconies and decks.

- You have the right not to be disturbed by noise, and the responsibility not to make excessive noise (including yelling, loud music and vehicle engine revving) that disturbs others. The operation of power tools (inc. lawn mowers, motorized garden tools, snow clearing and leaf blowing devices) in residential areas can only occur between 7:00 AM and 10:00 PM Monday through Saturday, or 9:00 AM-10:00 PM on Sundays and statutory holidays.

Good to know for winter:

- Property owners/occupants are responsible for the complete removal of snow and ice from all sidewalks adjacent to their property within 24 hours of when the snow stops falling. Complete removal means down to the bare pavement. (Street Bylaw 20M88)
- Top tip: Applying a sand de-icing mix can help remove ice from sidewalks – free sand is available at many Fire stations and Roads depots, but remember to bring your own container!
- Downspouts must end at least 2 metres (6.6 ft) away from any sidewalk, road, pathway, alley, lane or surface drainage facility. This helps prevent the formulation of ice on sidewalks and lanes

- waste, bottles, cans, boxes, household furniture, packaging materials, parts of machinery, equipment, appliances and automobile parts must be stored so that they are not visible from outside the property.
- Dilapidated vehicles are prohibited anywhere on private property unless housed inside a building.
- When off their property, pet owners must pick up and properly dispose of their animal's feces. Owners must have a suitable means to remove feces whenever off their property.
- Property owners must ensure fences and structures on their property are in good repair and are not a safety hazard. "Structures" in-in winter. (Drainage Bylaw 37M2005) Also make sure your water from eavestroughs, downspouts or hoses is not directed onto neighbouring properties. (Community Standards Bylaw 5M2004)

- Snow or ice from private property cannot be placed on the road or boulevard; snow or ice removed from a public sidewalk can be placed on the road or boulevard, as long as it doesn't create an obstruction. (Street Bylaw 20M88)
- When plugging in your vehicle, make sure you don't place an electrical cord over/ across any portion of a street or sidewalk. (Street Bylaw 20M88)

Parking issues? Calgary Traffic Bylaw 26M96 states:

- In order to park on a street, your vehicle must have current registration and be licensed, insured, operable and properly equipped. A vehicle must not be parked in such a manner that it prohibits access to driveways, waste containers, fire hydrants or streets. Unless prohibited by other signage (like snow routes when declared, or resident only parking areas), a vehicle may park on a street without being moved for 72 consecutive hours.

- Service work or minor repair of vehicles can only take place on private property. The exception is when emergency repairs are made on a City street to enable the vehicle to be driven onto private property or to a mechanic for repair.
- Recreational vehicles (RVs) registered to a City of Calgary address can be parked on the street directly adjoining the owner's or driver's residence for up to 36 consecutive hours. At this point, the RV must be moved to an off-street location for at least 48 consecutive hours before it can be parked back on the street. RVs include motor homes, campers, travel trailers and tent trailers. No trailer or detachable camping accommodation can be left on a street or alley if not connected to a vehicle.

- RVs are also not allowed to be parked on the front portion of the property or the front driveway for longer than 24 hours. Utility trailers are not allowed to be parked on the front portion of the property or the front driveway, except while being loaded or unloaded. (Land Use Bylaw 1P2007).
